Conscription

Last Friday was a memorable day in the Canadian Parliament when the second reading on conscription was carried by a majority of sixty-three.

This news no doubt, came to many as quite a surprise since the bill has met with considerable opposition ever since it was first introduced.

To the average Canadian the thought of conscription is decidedly repugnant. In the first place there are not many of us who would willingly give up our peaceful homes and vocations to undergo the hardships and dangers of the battlefield away off in Europe. And we have so long enjoyed such perfect liberty that it is not easy now to submit to conscription. If we must go, we would rather join the fighting ranks of our own free will and decide ourselves when we will go. But though these feelings are natural and even to be respected in the liberty loving men of the prairies, when we give the question our earnest thought and unbiased consideration we must come to the conclusion that if we are to continue to take our share in this war the voluntary system is not adequate or satisfactory, for in the first place recruits do not join in large enough numbers to keep the regiments that we have now in the field from being depleted, and in the second place it means that as long as it is left to the individual conscience it will be the most loyal and unselfish who will go and the slackers who will stay at home and reap the benefit. In some cases the father of a family will enlist while the care-free and irresponsible bachelor will stay. Important and necessary industries will be so depleted of men as to be seriously handicapped while other unnecessary industries would have men that could easily be spared.

The more one thinks about the question the more he feels that if we are to send our men to the front in anything like as large numbers as seems necessary, conscription both of men and wealth seems the only fair way.

But then there are those who say why should we have to go over to Europe to fight the battles of Britain and France? In the first place, because if the Allies were defeated, since Germany herself gives us one of the reasons for her imposing this war on the world that she must win more colonies for her surplus population, she would most assuredly seize Canada, and we all know what Prussian rule means.

In the second place Germany is a treaty with no regard for the liberty or well being of any nation, and no country large or small is safe until she is defeated. Therefore it is up to Canada to throw in her lot with the Allies and do her utmost for the cause of liberty. Canada's soldiers have already won undying glory in this war and we will keep up the record. It shall never be said that Canada was unwilling to shelter under the protection of other nations without doing her utmost.

But she could show nothing but hardness and hardness to the whole world.
 But tonight, with May lying there on the couch before her, with the past staring her in the face, in spite of the white hand she had put about her heart, some of the old pain awoke. Long for her passionate love for Raymond, and turned to hatred; even the new pain of his death a few months before had had no power to soften her; and for Raymond's widow she felt nothing but dislike and contempt. Neither the sweetness of the white face again nor the cushions, nor the appeal in

A refusal rose to Leslie's lips but no words came; because a sudden thought had flashed into her mind. "I will surely stand there by the author of evil. Revenge was being put into her hands at last." Why should she not use Raymond's own child as the instrument of her vengeance? The thought came and went with lightning rapidity, but the seed, once sown, sprang at once to a full grown tree. The very person who had done her such a deadly injury was unwittingly to be the agent of her vengeance, and the vengeance could be wreaked upon an innocent child.

of the interior provides that the proposed "solid" settlement board "may lend money for the actual purchase of land, the purchase of equipment and live stock and for the purchase of land that will be necessary for reaching the productive stage. This wise provision of ways and means will enable the board to direct applicants to those vacant lands near existing railroads, and there can be but little doubt that the board will make a well-directed effort in farming such lands, thus in opening up areas that are not otherwise available for settlement. Such a course would be most beneficial to the country generally; for our railway situation is such that the country is being opened up, to lay down more railroads; our business is to make more use of the railway and marketing facilities; and the farmer, following out the figurative description, our business is to make use of the workrooms that are already available, rather than the factory which is not available."

believe they are. Nearly always haul a second class trailer behind them. We go to school class. It is a very small class and it is very full. The fare is one penny. A Greek penny is a nice coin. It looks like the copper ones, but it looks like an aluminum washer. The occupants of the car are of all ages. Boys and girls and priests are in the majority. The children are going to school as may be seen with the books in their hands. The priests are going—ever present in the morning. If they are going to the barber's it would do them no harm. Nor is this all. The gray flour would have more nourishing, it is contended, because carrying with it the desirable "roughage" of help to digestion. Not all persons, however, need whole-grain flour; for many better results are obtained by gray flour in such mixtures. It would be had from adding rye, rice, or barley to wheat. Thus in the production may be accomplished along the lines.

It should not be forgotten, however, that because of its higher percentage of moisture, whole wheat flour does not "keep" readily.—The Outlook, New York.

"No, you can't Mary Jane. The man I deal with keeps everything in his store covered up."

"What's the trouble with that man or car of yours?"

"Had to put it up," replied Mary Chuggins. "You see, I bought it on credit. If I burn the gasoline necessary to run it I won't be able to make the payments."

Very few people seem to have realized the work that might have been done in studying these, and many other serious problems of allied importance, by the economist and development commission that was provided for in June, 1915, and appointed in October, 1915. CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES UNITE IN FEEDING THE ALLIES

ENGLISH-SPEAKING NATIONS IN CLOSER BOND
The Results of the British War Mission to the United States Will Have a Far-Reaching Effect, Making It Possible for the U. S.
To Co-Operate More Fully With the Allies

A Serious War

Lest the U.S. Alone Should Have to Settle With Germany

Frank A. Vanderlip, president of

The British war mission left American soil after six weeks' of conferences which have reached into every phase of American life and are expected vitally to affect the future of the U.S. if not of the world.

The National City Bank, New York, in a recent Liberty Loan speech said: "I am afraid that people are not altogether awake to the seriousness of this war; not altogether comprehending that we are in war, that we are in a very serious war—war that

It is easy to think that Germany is 3,000 miles away, surrounded by the greatest armies that were ever assembled; that the war is likely to be over before we can get any men into it; that we are like a manufacturer or merchant who is getting his customer's business in the way most calculated to bring success.

While there have been no formal agreements or binding treaties, Great Britain and the United States undoubtedly have been placed on a closer basis of friendship than at any time since the separation a cen-

"Now, just let us take one or two contingencies that are perfectly pos-

The most far-reaching understandings arrived at have been in trade matters. In general the United States will give the Allies preferential treatment in commerce. Details, however, could not be agreed upon, as congress has not yet passed the legislation that would authorize them.

pen them: It is 1,500,000 marines, a million and a half prisoners in Russia. Suppose all the forces of the Central Powers on the Eastern border might be withdrawn; suppose their forces were augmented by a million and a half returned prisoners; suppose Russia's food stores were opened for Germany, and all that happening very promptly, which is a conceivable thing. In that event could the armies of England and France on the western border withstand the onslaught? Is it not conceivable that if some solution is not found for the submarine menace England may be brought to the point of starvation? No matter what her wealth may be, starving men could not fight.

"I tell you it is within the possibilities that we may be raising not a Liberty Loan to pay for a war we are fighting to wage but a loan Munitions control and purchase will be similarly centralized, through the Allied buying committee, though without price control. The council of national defence has charged itself with so increasing manufacture as to provide for the American army without cutting off exports vitally needed abroad.

The United States is considering the invitation extended by the British that all the Allies send permanent representatives to sit on the Allied commissions in London, including

A German Trick

The world at large was puzzled by the rapid and overwhelming defeat of the Rumanian army. The solution of the puzzle lies in the field of optics.

Every one knows that the former friend of the Triple Alliance was provided with Krupp guns coming directly from Essen. But very few know that, with a really devilish foresight the Prussian munition purveyors wrecked the extremely delicate, delicate instrument by filling

Russia and Freedom

The Fate of the Erstwhile Land of the Czar Unless a Miracle Happens

What fitness there in the undertaken millions of Russia for the difficult duty of the republican citizen? It is very easy and exhilarating to march up and down a street waving red flags and acclaiming something called a revolution. It is fine to stone ing provisions about the trenches that their work is absolutely indispensable.

In our kennels in London we have twenty-five blinded dogs. They were wounded in the thick of the fighting. They came back. It is uncanny how ing in Petrograd think they are marching to Utopia. They are counter-marching through anarchy back to despotism.

Unless a miracle happens, the Russian people will presently find themselves under a Caesar, and glad to have him there. For the price of ignorant

Show Day Is Coming

Are you going to the Show? Is what everybody is saying to each other these pleasant days, and the Show that they mean is COOPER BROS. RAILROAD SHOW and Trained Animal Exhibition which will exhibit at Oyen Friday, July 20th.

Afternoon and Night, rain or shine under acres of waterproof tents. All new acts and features this year. The show that is different and without doubt the most Moral-High-Class, amusing and educational exhibition that will visit Oyen. There is a fascination about a tented show that appeals to everybody. Makes the children happy and takes the older folks back to their childhood days. The blare of the brass bands, the trumpeting of the elephants and the roar of the lions and the funny clowns with their monkeys, and everything to make the day a happy one.

Cooper Bros. programme is made up with high-class European novelties and horses, ponies, dogs, monkeys, goats and elephant acts, and acrobatic acts with a dozen or so of foolish and ludicrous comedy acts by an army of funny clowns help to make up the two hours programme of Cooper Bros. Show. Also an innovation is being presented this year by the Yvettes, the human butterflies and Madame Brettein and her beautiful white Arabian horse and dogs in magnificent statuary displays, a pictorial delight, depicting the following:—Military Attention, Home Sweet Home, Peace, Love, Statue of Liberty and Hunting Morn. These and many other features will be seen only with the Cooper Bros. Show. This is the show that you want to take your mother or your sweetheart and the children to see for this will be one of the big holidays for all.

On Thursday evening last Mr. Chas. Brown entertained a number of friends. The feature of the evening was a bucking contest which gave considerable pleasure to those present.

Mr. Chas. Derion who has been undergoing medical treatment in Alaska is now convalescent.

Geo. Campbell sold his team of grey horses for the sum of six hundred dollars.

Last Wednesday there was quite a heavy fall of rain in this district.

Don't forget the Green Mound Sports day on Tuesday, July 17th. Everybody welcome.

Benton Red Cross Day

Monday, July 2nd, was fittingly observed in Benton when a Red Cross effort was well patronized. A large crowd of people gathered to partake of the sumptuous repast provided by the energetic ladies of the community. Noticeable among whom were Mesdames Baker, Turner, Thomas, Shaw and Mann, and of the gentlemen Messrs. Hall, W. Denton, Cornell, Baker and Mead.

Whilst supper was being served a ball match was engaged in by the "Weary Willies" and "Tired Tims" of the district. The one redeeming feature of this game was the unquestioned decisions of Empire Miller who evidently had played in the Big Leagues "away back." That he got away without some one getting "this scalp" was a genuine tribute to the peace loving spirit of the Bentonites.

After supper an excellent concert was given by the local talent of the district augmented by the Sibbald Orchestra and the Sullivan Semi-Nigger troupe.

The net proceeds of the effort realized about one hundred dollars.

To all those who contributed the committee expresses its gratitude.

Sunday School Picnic

A Sunday School picnic will be held at Mr. T. W. Walker's on Friday afternoon and evening. A splendid programme of races and sports will be given and a special invitation is extended to parents and others to come and bring refreshments. Ice-cream and soft drinks will be sold on the grounds. The committee wish to thank the business men of the town for the generous way in which they donated towards the prizes for children's contests.

Quick Hauling to Market

Just think of the time the Ford saves a busy farmer in hauling milk to the cheese factory—vegetables, butter, eggs and poultry to market—fruit to the railway station. One fruit grower, last season, made four trips a day to the railway station, a total of a 144 miles, and carried as high as 72 crates of 11 quarts each on a trip. He couldn't have made more than one 36 mile trip a day with a team.

The Ford soon pays for itself in the time it saves the farmer. With help so scarce, every farmer needs to make use of every precious minute of his time. To him the Ford car is a real necessity. Indeed, some farmers tell us that it is doubtful if they could carry on their farm work under present labor conditions if it wasn't for the time the Ford saves them.

No farmer need be without a Ford. In fact, the average farmer could afford one if it were double the price. It is as easy to drive as a horse, three times as fast, and costs less per mile to run. Why not order one to-day?
